We're also hosting a two-day training on DECA Program Birth Through Five Implementation from June 3-4, 2019 at the same location! Go to the link provided above for more information.

About the Training

Children's ongoing use of challenging behavior is an occurrence that can stress even the most effectively run early care and education environments. Compounding this is the burnout and exhaustion teachers and staff often feel as they work to develop effective responses to support children. The purpose of this training is to enhance our understanding of the factors that contribute to children's use of challenging behavior, review an evidence-based, commonsense and practical strategy for reducing instances of challenging behavior and introduce a variety of learning tools to teach and support this effective strategy.

Outcomes for Participants

- Explore the FLIP IT strategy, an evidence-based, four-step strategy that both parents and teachers can use to help young children identify their feelings, learn healthy self-control, and reduce challenging behavior
- Reflect on the pre-requisites of FLIP IT success, including having healthy relationships and empathy with children
- Identify ICK (risk factors) that contribute to challenging behavior and how FLIP IT supports building resilience in children
- Gain a full understanding of the four FLIP IT steps (Feelings, Limits, Inquiries, Prompts) and how they work together to transform challenging behavior
- Explore how to implement each of the four steps by focusing on what not to do, what to say, and how to learn new habits
- Practice each newly learned step to ensure the transfer of knowledge from the training context to the adult/child interaction
- Address questions and concerns that commonly arise when trying to implement the FLIP IT strategy
